Roland Nowak - 2025-04-14 - Edge

When you sign in to sync to Microsoft Edge, you can easily browse the web from any of your devices, keep your favorites organized, and always pick up right where you left off. Sign in to sync your account on your computer

Setting up sync on your computer

1. In Microsoft Edge, select the profile image in the browser taskbar.
2. From the list of options, choose the account you want to sign in to or choose Add new account.

If you see Manage profile settings, you're already signed in.

Note: If you're in the Microsoft Edge settings page, select Profiles > Sign in to sync data, select the account you want to sign in to and select Continue.

3. Select Sign in to sync data.

When you're signed in, Microsoft Edge syncs your favorites, passwords, history, extensions, settings, open tabs, autofill form entries (such as your name, address, and phone number), payment info, and other data types across the devices you use with this account.

Note: If you choose to sync favorites, any tabs you previously set aside will also be synced.
